

Earth's Environment and Extraterrestrials

The Cosmic Paradigm Newsletter
by Mark Kimmel & Associates
June 10, 2004

This newsletter is prompted by those you who took time to comment and ask questions. Thank you.

Is there a connection between the deteriorating environment of this planet and visitors from other star systems?

If we are to believe the messages delivered to experiencers of extraterrestrial contact, the answer is yes. So what is going on and how does affect us personally?

First, lets take a look at some recent indicators of the continuing deterioration of our planet:

1) Professor James Lovelock of the United Nations' Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change recently stated, "Measurements show that the Greenland ice sheet is melting far faster than we expected. There's a growing awareness that global warming is far more serious than we ever realized, that it is proceeding more quickly, and that it poses a threat to future generations and even to civilization itself."

Whether you believe the melting of the polar ice cap is due to the burning of hydrocarbons, or is simply a natural cycle, is not as important as recognizing that it is melting at an unprecedented rate. Ocean levels are rising at ten times the historic rate.

2) In 2003, over 9,000 square miles of rain forest in Brazil was destroyed. This is an area roughly the size of the state of Vermont. Brazil's rain forest is as big as Western Europe and covers 60 percent of the country. Experts say as much as 20 percent of its 1.6 million square miles has already been destroyed by development, logging and farming. This rain forest required a million years to establish itself.

3) A detailed survey of birds and butterflies in Britain shows a population decline of 54 percent to 71 percent. Two surveys of 1,254 native plant species showed a decrease of about 28 percent over the past 40 years. Scott Miller, a biologist with the Smithsonian's National Museum of Natural History, said the British study was impressive and powerful because it was so thorough. Stuart Pimm, an ecologist at Duke University, said in Science that the British study results "show that we have likely underestimated the magnitude of the pending extinctions." Such findings suggest the world may be poised to undergo a sixth mass extinction; this one caused by the presence of mankind.

4) "Climate change over the next 20 years could result in a global catastrophe costing millions of lives in wars and natural disasters." A report from the U.S. Department of Defense warns that major European cities will be sunk beneath rising seas as Britain is plunged into a 'Siberian' climate by 2020. Nuclear conflict, mega-droughts, famine and widespread rioting will erupt across the world. The document predicts that abrupt climate change could bring the planet to the edge of anarchy as countries develop a nuclear threat to defend and secure dwindling food, water and energy supplies. The report said that this threat to global stability vastly eclipses that of terrorism.

5) Violence is another piece of the picture. The persistence of violence as a means of dealing with disagreement and the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction adds to the deteriorating world in which we live. Here again, examined individually these conflicts seem manageable; taken in the larger picture they present a self-destructive pattern that has persisted for thousands of years. One has only to look at the situation in the Middle East to see people who are sacrificing their souls to violence.

There are other instances where the living conditions of this planet are less than ideal < water, poverty, over population, and resource depletion. If we examine each of these instances in and of itself, they may seem bad but not fatal. If we examine each individually, they may indeed be overcome. Some people point to specific situations that have improved: the fall of Communism, abolishing apartheid, rising standards of living. I applaud these; I did not think I would live to see the day.

However, IF WE EXAMINE EARTH'S TROUBLES AS A WHOLE, WE ARE LEFT WITH ONLY ONE CONCLUSION: WE ARE FACED WITH A RAPIDLY DETERIORATING PLANET AND THE SITUATION CAN NOT GO ON FOR LONG.

All these problems present themselves to us at this moment, this turning point in human history. Humans traditionally do not react until a crisis presents itself. I believe we are living in that moment now. We are being given the opportunity to step up and correct these problems. I believe we have the ability. Do we have the will?

Now let us take a look at the messages from extraterrestrials:

Beginning in 1975 with Billy Meier and the Pleiadians and continuing to current experiencers around the globe, the following messages have been repeated over and over.

1. The environment of your planet is being damaged. We can see this damage as we approach your sphere. We can detect this damage with our instruments. The damage in some cases, such as the destruction of your rain forests, cannot be repaired. The damage in all cases is much more life-threatening than you realize. If left unchecked, if you continue on your present course, the ecological damage will destroy your planet. There is little time left to completely rectify things < only a very few years.

2. The possibility of a third World War still exists. Explosions of only a fraction of your nuclear arms could easily destroy all life on your planet. Another planet in this galaxy was destroyed in a nuclear holocaust.

3. We are concerned and have assembled here in large numbers, from all corners of the universe, to offer assistance. It is only by increasing your consciousness, your spiritual awareness, that you can overcome this current situation. We are not here to "save" you; we are here to encourage you, to offer advice, to offer friendship and love.

Reports of UFO activity increased as soon as the first atomic bomb was exploded at White Sands, New Mexico. During the massive buildup of nuclear arms associated with the cold war, installations that were involved with nuclear weapons production were regularly visited. UFOs have reportedly disabled our intercontinental missiles.

I see a connection. How about you? Are you willing to increase your consciousness?

Again, I do not ask you to believe < believing is not the same as knowing. Rather I am suggesting that you investigate whether that which I am pointing out bears your attention. This is our planet, yours and mine. I cannot heal it; it is together that we can heal it.

Embrace the un-thinkable. Imagine that human life ceased to exist on this planet. Think about the un-thinkable and find out for yourself.

THE COSMIC PARADIGM NETWORK

The views presented above show that we can take steps to respond to the current world crisis.

Where do you choose to position yourself at this the pivotal juncture of human history? Will you join with others who are awakening, join with them to use a spiritual consciousness to transform this planet to a place of beauty, peace, and abundance for all? We have been assured that when we reach a critical mass -- not that many people really -- the transformation will be swift and sure. The Cosmic Paradigm Network is dedicated to assisting the positive transformation of this planet. Join us at www.cosmicparadigm.com .

In Truth and Love,

Mark

Some of the material presented above is contained in Trillion by Mark Kimmel. More has been woven into Decimal.

Decimal will be available summer 2004.

This editorial opinion is provided by Mark Kimmel. For breaking news, information, personal stories, newsletters, and books relating to extraterrestrials, implications of extraterrestrial contact, and the cosmic paradigm go to www.cosmicparadigm.com

To comment on this newsletter send your statement to MK@markkimmel.com

Web site: www.cosmicparadigm.com/

E-mail MK@markkimmel.com