

The Cosmic Paradigm Newsletter

"Something is not quite right." "I know something is different." "I recently felt a shift in energy; it left me disoriented." As I have traveled around, I have heard these and similar words.

"Something is not quite right," generally comes from people who are not aware of the larger picture, who are reasonably content in their box. Generally these people will admit that there is probably intelligent life somewhere else in the universe. But ETs right here, right now? Celestials interacting with them daily? No way! Generally these folks also see themselves as powerless, victims to the current paradigm. Even though their circumstances are far from ideal, they are happy to go along with the status quo. But still they admit, "Something is not quite right."

As I reflect on this, I am encouraged by what is going on. Many are waking up. The only question is, will they be enough and will they awaken in time? There is a split in humanity coming, depending upon our response to events.

The people who are saying, "I know something is different," or, "I recently felt a shift in energy; it left me disoriented," are profoundly aware of the larger picture. They comprise a relatively small proportion of the overall U.S. population, a majority of those outside the U.S. In this group are some very conscious people who are looking for a way to make a difference, looking for a way to contribute, to serve, to assist change. These wonderful people see the existing situation -- power plays, misinformation, economic collapse, extreme weather, an oil-based civilization, ecological destruction, polar shift, weapons of mass destruction, etc. etc. -- for what it is. They are unwilling to see themselves as victims and are consciously working to assert their personal power. Most of them have a very strong connection to celestials, extraplanetary beings, and other non-human allies. I have had the privilege of interacting with a number of these folks. As a loose alliance, we are interested in helping others like ourselves to know that they are not alone, to realize that they are personally powerful, and to understand how they can make a difference.

As I continue my journey around the U.S. and Canada, I plan to meet with about a dozen small gatherings (3 - 10) of aware people in predetermined locations. If you want to be included in one of these small "working groups," let me know. Better yet, if you want to organize one, let me know ASAP. If you have already asked to be placed on the list, I will let you know the location of the nearest group and when. Everyone will be asked to qualify in order to attend.

Make no mistake, if we do nothing to intervene, things are going to get worse, before they get better. They will get worse because there are not enough people taking action. They will continue to get worse, and worse, until enough of us wake up, until we separate off, or until we self-destruct. Keep in mind that there are forces pushing and pulling us in various directions, encouraging us, discouraging us. Most of these forces are very subtle. Many work at the unconscious level of mind control.
