Special Report "America: Freedom to Fascism"
September 20, 2006

We are edging closer to the transformation, just look around; read between the lines in newspaper articles, between the stories of television reporters. Almost everyone agrees that something is clearly amiss. I see that many things are continuing to go very wrong on our planet. At the same time the forces trying to uplift the planet are making inroads. Each day I discover more people who are awake and eager to contribute to the transformation of our world. Amidst all that is not right, I am cautiously optimistic that many of us will make it through these turbulent times and find that world of peace and harmony we all envision.

TO GAIN A BETTER UNDERSTANDING OF THE TRUTH OF WHAT IS TRANSPIRING, I RECOMMEND THE MOVIE, "America: Freedom to Fascism." More details below.

America: Freedom to Fascism New Theater Openings

- > Dear Lovers of Liberty, the struggle is just beginning!
- > Get ready...

- > * Are you aware by May of 2008 the law will require you to carry a national identification card?

- > * Are you aware that there are plans being developed to have all Americans embedded with a Radio Frequency Identification (RFID) computer chip under their skin so they can be tracked wherever they go?

- > * Are you aware the Supreme Court has ruled that the government has no authority to impose a direct unapportioned tax on the labor of the American people, and the 16th Amendment does not give the government that power?

- > * Are you aware that computer voting machines can be rigged and there is no way to ensure that your vote is counted?

Aaron Russo is proud to announce the opening of "America: Freedom to Fascism" in theaters around the country. Tell your friends, family and co-workers - Everyone must see this film!

RECENT REVIEW:

> "America: Freedom to Fascism"

> By Mike Rivero, WhatReallyHappened.com:

> AMERICA: FREEDOM TO FASCISM

> I finally received a DVD of the full length movie, and > watched it last night.

> The short review is that if Fahrenheit 9-11 won the "Palm D-Or", then "AMERICA: FREEDOM TO FASCISM" deserves the whole tree! This is the film that F/9-11 aspired to but failed to be.

> Far from the extremist screed that its attackers portray it to be, "America" starts out as a genuinely objective search to find out the reality behind the claims of the Tax Honesty movement. In scene after scene, Aaron Russo tries to get the answer to one simple question; what is the law that requires American workers to pay income tax on their wages and salaries. At every turn, he is rebuffed by IRS officials, with one notable exception. Aaron did secure an interview with former IRS Commissioner Sheldon Cohen who makes the amazing statement that US Supreme Court rulings are irrelevant when it comes to interpretation and enforcement of the IRS code, and moreover chides Aaron for refusing to "believe" that he owes taxes. By this time, Aaron and the audience are convinced that the Tax Honesty people are onto something!

> Numerous examples are given of cases against non-filers collapsing in court when the prosecutions are unable to produce the law they supposedly are in violation of. These are juxtaposed against successful prosecutions in which the judges clearly browbeat the juries into accepting at face value what the prosecutors claim.

> In one frightening case, a Federal Judge rules from the bench that the government is not under any legal obligation to show any laws it claims are being broken during a trial.

> Russo then moves into the police state tactics used by the IRS in enforcement actions, detailing how accusation alone (in this case, false) can trigger the complete ruin of the victims' homes and businesses.

Having laid the foundation that the income tax on wages may be as big a hoax as Iraq's 'nookular' bombs, Russo takes his film into the reality of life in America, where far from the freedom we are told we enjoy, one must get the government's permission to do just about anything these days, while the government watches our every move. With the planned national ID card, things are likely to get worse.

> This is a film that will probably give nightmares to those who have not been following the nation's devolution here on the internet for the last several years. The film is a convincer, and Russo has carefully laid out the path for his audience, who will be reluctant to see what Russo sees, to follow.

> This is a movie you MUST see. This is a movie the government MUST keep you from seeing. Call your local theaters and ask when it will be showing. When enough people call, the film will be booked, because after all, in America, money rules all.
